Without technical jargon and complicated formulas, God the Reason uses simple language and easy to understand illustrations to present the life-changing excellence of God's perfections and their importance for apologetics. For one, all things are impossible without the God the Scripture, while every known fact and scientific discovery declares the truth of Christian faith. And while atheists would need complete knowledge of everything in the universe and beyond to know the infinite God of the Bible does not exist, they deny Him even as they are immersed in a clear and marvelous display of His power and genius.

The infinite excellence of God's perfections provides the ultimate source and guide for knowledge about Him and the universe He created, and give us the basis of an all-encompassing, God-honoring, and soul-thrilling worldview that provides the answer to the deepest questions of life. Comfort in the face of the greatest evils, suffering, and mysteries comes not from having a specific answer and solution to every problem, but in knowing the perfect One who does. To know ourselves we must know the God who made us. To rightly live in the world, we must know Him who owns, orders, and sustains it. Apart from God, all things fall into pointless absurdity. But in a true knowledge and love of the Source and Explanation of all things we have life, meaning, and purpose, while our trivial existence gains eternal importance as part of God's purpose and plan. A right understanding of God's infinite excellence will not only immunize you against the most sophisticated arguments of unbelief, it will increase your joy, comfort and faith in Christ and Scripture.
